which their fast why its first been

Rosie was a rabbit who loved racing. Thursday was her first race of the season and she was very excited.

Some of the other rabbits were less excited. They thought that Rosie was very fast.

"Why should I even be in the race if Rosie will be there?" one rabbit asked. "It's been five years since I raced against her and I have never won!"

It made Rosie sad that the other rabbits felt like this. She thought about how to solve the problem. Then she had an idea!

She asked four other rabbits if they would like to be in a relay race with her.

"A relay race, which is a race where a team can work together, is a great idea!" the other rabbits said.

When race day came, the rabbits all gave each other a high five. Then they all tried their best. Each rabbit ran with all its might.

In the end, Team Rabbit came in second place.

"I would rather we come in second place and all work together than win all by myself," Rosie said.
