

Narrative writing: Mind reader

Grade 4 Writing Worksheet

Imagine a world where there is a special type of soda that helps people read minds. Write a story about someone who discovers this soda and tries it for the first time. What kind of thoughts do they hear? What do they do with this new ability? Are there any negative consequences to being able to read people's minds? Does it change their life?

Remember to use dialogue and descriptive imagery to bring your adventures to life!

First, plan your narrative:
